NEW INFORMATION

Market-share taker

- Strong presales momentum backed by aggressive launches
- Superior profitability despite targeting lower priced segments
- Transforming into a leader across segments
- Top BUY in our sector universe given proactive product strategies

Strong presales momentum

In 2010, Pruksa Real Estate (PS) booked THB38.8b in presales (+70.2%y-y) with THB699m or 2% derived from its international projects. PS's international expansions are still small but are part of management's initiatives to create a new growth platform. The Maldives project (80% JV with Housing Development Corp) will be the first to contribute, as it made up for most international project presales with total value of THB3.5b. Other international projects include: a 100%-owned project in Bangalore, India worth THB1.6b; a 50% JV with SOHAM Group in Mumbai, India worth THB1.5b; and an 85% JV in Vietnam with Hoang Huy Service Investment worth THB3.9b. Contributions from international projects would be around 8% of its 2011 projected sales, according to the company.

Chutima Woramontri +66 2611 3555 chutima.wor@acls.co.th

No pull back in launches

In 2010, PS launched 72 projects compared to the 68 projects it guided earlier. This makes PS the most aggressive developer in Thailand and also most successful in terms of presales and profitability. The company plans to launch 78 projects in 2011, of which 42 will be townhouses, 17 single-detached housing, 15 condos and four international projects. 51 of the new projects have been secured in terms of land bank. Pruksa's management expects presales to rise to THB42b (+8%), while guiding for 2011 sales to grow 37%. Our 2011 sales forecast of THB26.9b is 16% below guidance, as we see a possibility of slower sales due to rising market competition. Year to date, PS has launched 15 projects and generated THB5.5b in presales.

Superior profitability despite targeting lower ends In 2010, PS's gross profit margin was 37.5%, higher than our 36.4% estimate, although the company targeted low-end segments. PS's average per-unit price in 2010 was around THB1.8m, while cheaper townhouses contributed 51% of total sales. Its relatively higher operating expenses of 18% in 2010 is not a major concern, as PS spent more in advertising new launches that were larger than its previous plan.

Our top choice for Thai property sector

We reiterate our BUY call with a DCF-based target price of THB24, offering 32.6% upside potential. The stock trades on 9.6x 2011E P/E with 3% yield. Key risks to target price are poor response to launches and cost inflation, both of which could lead to margin contraction. However, these possible risks are not of immediate concern given the limited assetprice bubbles in Thailand and PS's sustained positive profitability trend.

EXPERTS

Key earnings drivers & sensitivity

- We are convinced that PS can outperform the industry with a 38% top-line CAGR over 2007-10E. With a very large portfolio, there is a possibility that some projects may not be as successful as others. Our projections take into account the possibility of some product risks.
- PS's rising profitability trend has been impressive. We think PS has outperformed peers despite a large proportion of its sales being derived from the low-priced townhouse products.

A detailed discussion of the valuation methodologies used to derive our target prices and the risks that could impede their achievement for stocks recommended in the report is available on request from the analyst(s) named in this report.

All share prices are as at market close on 21 February 2011 unless otherwise stated. Stock recommendations are based on absolute upside (downside), which we define as (target price* - current price) / current price. If the upside is 10% or more, the recommendation is REDUCE. For stocks where the upside or downside is less than 10%, the recommendation is HOLD. In addition, we have key buy and key sell lists in each market, which are our most commercial and/or actionable BUY and REDUCE calls and are limited to at most five key buys and five key sells in each market at any point in time.

Unless otherwise specified, these recommendations are set with a 12-month horizon. Thus, it is possible that future price volatility may cause a temporary mismatch between upside/downside for a stock based on market price and the formal recommendation.

*In most cases, the target price will equal the analyst's assessment of the current fair value of the stock. However, if the analyst doesn't think the market will reassess the stock over the specified time horizon due to a lack of events or catalysts, then the target price may differ from fair value. In most cases, therefore, our recommendation is an assessment of the mismatch between current market price and our assessment of current fair value.

ng distribution (as at 21 February 2011)
